TAFT LETTER IN ALASKA LAND DEAL IS NOT FOUND

Records of Interior Department Fail to Show Document Says Secretary Fisher---Commissioner Dennett Before Committee Investigating Controller Bay Case.

Special to Telegram.
Washington, July 10.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher today told President Taft that a careful search of the records of his department failed to show the letter in which Charles P. Taft, the President's brother, used his influence in behalf of navigation interests in Alaska to secure control of Controller Bay. Secretary Fisher also told the President that he saw the article written by Miss Abbott before it was printed and remembered no such letter in the article.

President Taft has made no direct statement about what has come to be known as the Controller Bay Alaska case. His only concern about the matter has been as to the attempt to connect his brother with the matter. The President has had every scrap of his correspondence searched and nowhere finds the slightest reference to the Controller Bay matter. He does not remember that his brother ever spoke of the matter to him. And does not remember mentioning it orally or in letters to his brother.

Commissioner of the General Land Office Fred Dennett and Miss Abbott both subpoenaed as witnesses were present today when the House committee on expenditures in the interior department began an inquiry into charges of an alleged "grab" of valuable water front lands on Controller Bay by the Guggenheim interests. He was summoned to tell what he knew of an order by the President throwing the land open to entry. Miss Abbott claimed to have made a copy of the alleged letter from Ryan to Ballinger, but Mr. Dennett said he didn't know anything about it, or of any connection that the President or his brother had with the case beyond the fact that the President had ordered the lands opened for entry.

Chairman Graham, of the committee, asked Mr. Dennett to furnish copies of all telegrams and correspondence regarding the Controller Bay claims. After this the witness was excused and the committee adjourned until Wednesday.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 10.—A test case involving claims of from $3,500,000 to $5,000,000 against the United States by retired army officers for longevity pay has been decided in favor of the government by Justice Anderson, of the district supreme court. An appeal will be taken to the United States Supreme court. Failure to include their service as military cadets at West Point in rating their pay is the basis of the army officers claims.

NOT GUILTY IS THE PLEA OF WIRE MEN

Special to Telegram.

New York, July 10.—The 83 wire manufacturers indicted June 29 under the anti-trust law on charges of restraining trade in wire products began their fight against the government today by entering pleas of not guilty and securing a delay until September 1 to enable them to file demurrers. Illness of John W. Gates Calls His Son to Paris--He Sails on Only Few Hours' Notice.

John W. Gates, who recently sailed for Europe after testifying in the steel investigation before a congressional committee in Washington, is reported to be critically ill in Paris. While his friends deny that his condition is serious, rumors in Paris say that his illness has failed to yield to treatment. His son, Charles G. Gates, sailed for Paris from New York on the Mauretania the other day, going aboard only a few minutes before the vessel left the pier. There was no stateroom left, but Mr. Gates insisted on staying aboard, and he was told he could have one of the officers' quarters. Charles denied that the capitalist was dangerously ill, but said that his father had cables a wish for him to go to Paris and he was sailing a few days earlier than he had intended.

HOT WEATHER STOPS FLIGHT OF AVIATORS

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 10.—Scorched by an intense sun, encountered between Atlantic City and Baltimore, Harry N. Atwood and Charles K. Hamilton are at a hotel in Baltimore, where they have been resting after their sensational flight of 200 miles this morning. An attempt was made to reach this city at 6 o'clock this afternoon, but a rarity of the air and the intense heat prevented the aviators from resuming their flight. Atwood announced tonight that he would probably make another attempt tomorrow.

Charters Issued Monday.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 10.—Three charters were issued today for new business concerns, one in Rockingham, one at Oriental and the other at Candor, Montgomery county. The Oriental Building and Bulkhead Co., of Candor, is chartered with $30,000 capital authorized and $5,000 subscribed for land improvement undertakings principally, the principal incorporators being B. F. Pickles and L. B. Midyette and others. The Uwarram Mining Co., of Candor, Montgomery county, has $100,000 capital authorized and $50,000 subscribed by Geo. B. Gaither and others for general mining purposes. The third charter is the Rockingham Machine Co., capital $15,000, by N. V. Everett, M. L. Harrison and T. C. Leak, Jr. There is an amendment to the charter of the Neuse Realty Co., of New Bern, which gives $50,000 by D. E. Henderson, L. D. Stevenson and others by which the name is changed to the Consolidated Tire and Oil Co.

Automobiles Are Multiplying.

Raleigh, July 10.—The multiplication of automobiles in this State is something remarkable. Twenty-two new machines were registered with the secretary of state today and one day last week there were forty-six new registrations. During the ten days of July there have been two hundred and twenty-six registrations.

JURY

Will Probably Get Ware-Kramer Case Wednesday--Arguments Will End Today.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 10.—The Federal court this afternoon entered upon the last week of its session for the trial of the Ware-Kramer Co. vs. American Tobacco Co. trial that has engaged the court for the past four weeks. The expectation now is that the jury will get the case Wednesday. Mr. F. L. Fuller, of counsel for the defendant, completed his argument between one and two o'clock when the court took recess for dinner. This afternoon F. S. Spruill, of Rocky Mount, of counsel for the plaintiff delivered the closing speech for the plaintiff, summing up the whole case from the viewpoint of the plaintiff and insisting that the A. T. Co. pursued the Ware-Kramer Co. commercially for the specific purpose of crushing its business and putting an end as far as possible, to competition.

Tuesday morning ex-Governor Aycock will begin the final argument for the defendant and it is expected that his argument will require practically the whole day. Then Wednesday morning there will be the charge to the jury by Judge Connor.

RECIPROCITY AMENDMENTS VOTED DOWN

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 10.—The Senate late this evening by an overwhelming majority defeated all the amendments to the reciprocity bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Cummins, of Iowa. Among the provisions were amendments to place on the free list flour, fruit juices and other manufactured articles of farm products.

BAVILA

Has Landed in Venezuela—Castro Raising Force to Overthrow Government.

Special to Telegram.

MRS. NAPOLITANO MAY GET LIFE SENTENCE.

Special to Telegram.

Ottawa, Ont., July 10.—A special meeting of the Dominion cabinet was held tonight. It is thought quite likely that the multitude of petitions for clemency to Mrs. Napolitano, the Soo murderer, will be taken up. Persons in close touch with the minister of justice expressed themselves as confident that the woman's sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment.

LABELING OF WHISKEY TO ATTENTION OF THE HOUSE

Alabama Congressman Wants Pure Food And Drugs Act Amended So Construction of Labeling Clause Will Not be in Doubt.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 10.—Representative Rickerson, of Alabama, today said that he would insist upon legislation so amending the pure food and drug law that the sections relating to the labeling of whiskeys would necessarily be construed as they were construed by Dr. Harvey Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry.

This statement means that not only is the pure food and drug act likely to be treated to amendatory process so that drugs will be clearly defined, but that the old problem between the rectifiers and the so-called case whiskey men will again be offered for solution.

Dividend to Be Declared.

Special to Telegram.

Alexandria, Va., July 10.—Depositors of the defunct Virginia Safe, Deposit and Trust Corporation will receive a 5 percent dividend about August 1. The accounts which range from 11 cents to thousands of dollars are now being gone over and checks will be made out for five percent to the depositors soon.

For the first days the negotiations are confined to Germany and France, though other interested powers are being kept informed.

SPEECHES IN THE WAY OF RECIPROCITY

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 10.—Nothing but speeches stand in the way of the complete success of the Canadian reciprocity bill, said Chairman Penrose, of the Senate Finance committee, today. The senator also stated that he did not think that Congress would be in session much longer and that he was sticking to the prediction that it would adjourn about July 29 or August 5.

Richmond and they were unable to supply the demand for ice Sunday. Shortages of ice were also reported in Norfolk and Newport News. The heat in the Virginia cities Sunday was reported as ferocious and this caused the unprecedented demand for ice.Durham Herald thinks that Raleigh is the only town in the State in which the near beer saloons were not put out of business. If they have not been put out of business in Raleigh it is about time for the good citizens of the capital to get busy and see that they are closed up. If there are any near beer saloons open in the State at this time they are open in violation of the law, and if they are open in Raleigh it is most unfortunate that the capital of the State is placing this example before the other cities and towns of North Carolina. The near beer saloons can be closed in any town where an honest, intelligently directed campaign is made against law breaking. There is something radically wrong in the town or city which permits any organized, widespread violation of any law of the State or municipality.Congress provided last session for the Double Taxation.

In its review of the evils of the North Carolina tax code by the last General Assembly, the Enterprise at the time contended that one of its worst features was the glaring existence of the double taxation plan on certain classes of property, a principle diametrically in conflict with the fundamental and correct doctrine of the American constitutional theory of taxation. Speaking today with a successful banker, he said that he thought that the mortgage tax was a flagrant illustration of double taxation.
For example, if a man owns real estate of $1,000 and has a mortgage of $750 on same, he has really only an equitable interest of $250, and he should only be made to pay taxes on the re-mainding valuation. It is further true in its literal sense, because a mortgage is merely a sale, protected by an equitable redemption clause. Under our system of tax listing the mortgagor gives

Oil dividends with the greatest ease—

a part and parcel of the interurban trolley system? This is a question that is exciting the liveliest speculation throughout the Piedmont section of the Carolinas. For weeks past there have been rumors to the effect that the contract with Mr. W.
J. Oliver, who has the work in hand from Greenville to Spartanburg, had been held up, at least the portion of it that relates to Spartanburg. Mr. Oliver has the contract for the construction of the line from Greenwood to Greenville and this work is progressing very rapidly, as is also the work on the line between Charlotte and Gastonia.The crux of the situation in Spartanburg is the question of franchise similar to the one that the Charlotte authorities granted some time ago. The Spartanburg authorities, however, want to restrict the franchise as to time and also as to the use of the streets. There is also some hitch as to choice of routes between Greenville and Spartanburg, but this matter could be adjusted if the other were out of the way. The surveys have been finished and nothing can be done until the difficulties are settled.In the opinion of the best-posted Charlotte business men, it is hardly believed that there is any occasion for the Spartanburg aldermen and the promoters of the interurban trolley system to fall apart on the question of franchise. This matter was thoroughly threshed out when the question was pending here last year, a month or more being devoted to a thorough combing out of the situation.There is no question as to the power of the city to tax the corporation and fur-thermore there is no question but that the city, by virtue of its police power, could restrain and prevent the occupation of any streets that were too narrow for occupancy by the street railway tracks. The lifetime of the franchise, whether 40 or 60 years, is not a matter of vital moment, looking at the situation 40 years hence. There is no question but that the trend of sentiment today is towards regulation rather than competition, initial restraint, etc., and 40 years hence the idea will doubtless be even farther developed than it is today.

CATCHER M'LEAN'S LOVE FOR UMPIRE KLEM.

Bill Klem, the National league umpire, has a mouth of large dimensions, and thereby hangs a tale that bodes ill to Catcher Larry McLean of the Cincinnati club if the National league "ump" ever hears it. Last spring McLean, who also has some mouth, put in a couple of hours watching one of the big alligators at Hot Springs, which kept its mouth open most of the time. Asked why it was so interesting, McLean replied:

"It reminded me so much of Bill Klem on a busy afternoon that I hated to leave."

UMPIRE JACK DOYLE'S EXPERIENCE WARNING TO OTHER BALL PLAYERS

The experience of Umpire Jack Doyle in Philadelphia recently when angry fans tried to lay violent hands on him and would have succeeded but for the action of the police may be regarded as a warning to ball players who may try to umpire after their diamond careers are at an end.

When Doyle was a ball player he excelled as a kicker and an umpire bather. Close decisions against his team riled him to deeds of violence. He even went so far as to assault several umpires, including Thomas Lynch, now president of the National league. He was fined and suspended again and again for his vigorous fault finding, yet he never changed his tactics.

But as an umpire himself Doyle has discovered that mistakes in rendering decisions are possible and that even correct rulings do not please partisan fans, who regard the judge of play as a common enemy.

SCHAEFER A "COMEBACK."

Veteran Player of Washington Putting Up Brilliant Game at First Sack.

Talking about "comebacks," Herman Schaefer, the Washington's veteran infielder, furnishes an interesting illustration. He has been in the American league since 1905, during which period he has played both the in and out fields. It does seem that his real position was not found until he was placed at first base by McAleer. There is no doubt that Schaefer, when his batting, base running and knowledge of the game are taken into consideration, has played a better first base than any man covering that place for the Nationals in recent years.

The fact that he is fast on his feet makes him a valuable man for the team, and what is more, he is a quick, accurate thrower and has been in the game long enough to know what to do with the ball when he gets it. If Schaefer can keep up the pace he has set to date McAleer will have no occasion to look about for a first baseman, for Schaefer has it on several playing in the major leagues today.

WHY BROOKLYN TEAM LOSES

Many Reasons Given For Club's Poor Showing This Season.

Lack of team play at the bat and on the bases, general absence of head-work and pitching of an in and out quality are reasons why the Brooklyn's are doomed to a place near the cellar. Brooklyn's chances for a consistent winner died when Edward Hanlon severed his relations with the club at Washington park. Will John Ganzel succeeded Bill Dahmen as the club's manager next year?

Ramsell to Defend Sprinting Titles. "Texas" Ramsell, the University of Pennsylvania sprinting star, will very likely defend his 100 and 220 yard dash titles at this year's English championships.

ROWING COACHES

Charles H., or "Old Man" Courtney, as he is more familiarly known, is the dean of American rowing coaches. He has turned out more champion crews than any other coach in this country—more, in fact, than all the others combined. Some persons have attempted to minimize his ability with the explanation that oarsmen grow in the time. Asked why it was so interesting, McLean replied:

"It reminded me so much of Bill Klem on a busy afternoon that I hated to leave."

CHARLES H. COURTYARD.

Invigorating climate of Lake Cayuga, but Cornell's annual successes are due more to Courtney's almost infallible judgment in the selection of his oarsmen and his rare skill in rigging a boat than to the natural advantages which he and his crews enjoy.

Courtney has been connected with Cornell's rowing from its infancy and has done more than any other man in this country to develop college rowing to its present high state of efficiency.

Courtney is a strict disciplinarian and never tolerates any violation of training rules. He has been known at times to "fire" an entire crew and to win with an eight of green men. As a rule, he is considerate with his oarsmen, but insists upon attention to business.

The most recent example of his discipline and relenting spirit occurred just prior to the departure of his crews for the recent Poughkeepsie race. Three members of the freshman eight had been found guilty of breaking training rules to the extent of eating ice cream. Courtney "fired" them on the spot, but he took them along to Poughkeepsie, and when he thought they had been sufficiently punished he replaced them in the boat. Now they are known as the "ice cream kids," a name that will probably stick to them during their undergraduate days.

HARD FOR PLAYER TO QUIT.

Davy Jones Says Call of Baseball Is Too Strong.

It is difficult for a big league player or a minor leaguer, for that matter, to quit baseball. Davy Jones, the left fielder of the Detroit Tigers, thinks so, and Davy admits that when the time comes for him to lay aside his uniform for the last time he will find the task a hard one.

Davy is one ball player who should not worry about the future. He has an established drug store, does a profitable business, has a long lease and a competent partner in his brother. Still Davy hates to think of the time when he will have to quit.

It is not a case of not being able to pursue some other line of business, but not wanting to, in the case of the ball player. He has lived the life of the game, and its features have got into his system. The call is too strong.

Gotch Preparing For Bout.

Arrangements are practically completed for the erection of the training quarters for Frank Gotch in Humboldt, Ia., to be used in his preparations for the world's championships wrestling match with George Hackenschmidt to be held in Chicago next September. Several cities have been making offers to Gotch, but he has been anxious to do his work at home, and so during the next few months Humboldt will be the center for wrestlers.

Anderson, One Armed Twirler.

Wingo Anderson, now with Nashville, comes pretty near being one of the one armed pitchers that you read about. His right arm was crushed in a sawmill and is practically useless. He also has two fingers of his right hand. But his left "wing" is still able to earn him bread and butter.

ing to be game and stick out her time and hold the claim down."

"Why did she take it up?" Lewis stared ahead of him. "Why should she, of all women in the world, take up a homestead claim?"

"Ask her yourself," retorted Barty. "She don't like me. I worked for her in the spring, cutting out timber, and building her shack for her, and fixing things to rights, and I didn't want to take any money for it."

"Why not?"

"Because I asked her to marry me instead. So she don't believe in my good intentions no more."

"I see," said Lewis. "He could imagine Barty proposing to her."

They reached the little clearing at high noon. The spruce trees grew up to the very edge of it, and from the front door one could look out over miles and miles of the sweeping valleys about Ajados. Molly, the woman from Channing's, sat in the doorway, half asleep. She looked worn out, and tired, but roused up as the men dropped from their horses and hobbled them.

"She's better," she told them. "She's been mighty sick, but the fever's gone now, and she's thinking of going home and giving up. She ain't here in the house. She's gone down yonder to the pines there on the edge of the gulch."

It was there that Lewis found her, sitting on the rocks, beneath the spruces, her deaf, clear-cut face turned toward the far off spot where the Lewis ranch lay. And just for once, Lewis found the way clear. He had often wondered just how he should ask the woman he loved to marry him, just what tender, dearest words in all the language should win her for him, and now, now, he bent down behind her, and folded both arms closely about her, and as she tried to struggle he laid his lips on hers. When she lay still in his arms, he spoke, looking into the eyes that faltered at his glance.

"Did you come out here on my account?"

"Yes," she said; "I wanted to show you that I was not the useless sort of brainless toy you thought me. I knew I could fight this life here with you, if you—"

"And I dared not ask you, sweet heart?"

"Why not?"

"How could I ask a girl who was used to wealth?"

"But I never was, you dear, dear goose," she laughed. "I was not an honored guest at Ajados at all. I had been visiting a wealthy schoolmate, and was asked by courtesy, nothing more. I thought at first that you went because, well, because Cupid could not see his way to marrying the beggar maid this time; and then Billie told me the truth about you, and how you were coming to this section to take up a homestead claim, and so I came too."

"We'll use this for a summer house, dear," said Lewis. "The ranch is larger and more fitted to a honey moon."

They strolled back to the shack together, and Barty, watching them as they came slowly up the path, turned away and went to get his pony.

"Thanks, old man," Lewis told him, as he put out his hand.

"Thanks? Man, I didn't do it for you. It was for her, God bless her." And he went whistling down the trail to Ajados.

WHEN THE MAN KEEPS HOUSE

It is Great Fun for the First Hour or Two, and Then Trouble Looms Large.

If you are a married man and your wife has gone away for a visit, you know what a relief it is. That is, for a day or two.

At first you swell up your chest and breathe deeply, wondering how on earth you stood the regular hours so long.

Now you are free as air. No need to go home. No need to execute commissions. Nothing to have to remember and nothing to prevent your doing just as you please. Glorious!

In 24 hours you decide that things are awfully dull in town. You've made yourself a nuisance to everybody you know. If you belong to a club you wear out its chairs and sigh and yawn and smoke too much.

The theater ceases to interest you. Then you decide to go home early and read.

You read until you hate the Phonicians, or whoever it was that invented them, and go to bed. You toss and tumble about and finally decide to cook something, for you're hungry.

You light the stove and look for something to eat. You find there is nothing but a heel of bread as hard as walnut timber and a can of tomatoes. Ha! You'll have canned tomatoes.

You dump the tomatoes in the saucepan and go after your pipe. When you return it is on a jump, for it took some time to locate the pipe and there is a smell of scorching about.

After this you open all the windows and go to bed hungry, and when the lady finally arrives she finds things in an awful condition and complains bitterly about it, but you're too glad she's back to say anything.

She could call you a liar or a skinflint or anything else, and you take it like a lamb and smile sweetly and forgivingly.—Dallas News.

The man who has an article which he has no further use for, with the assistance of a little want ad, can find readily the other man who is looking for just that article. On the other hand the man who is looking for some particular article can find the man who has it and who it perhaps has not occurred that he can sell it, thus by means of the want ad purchasers and sellers for small articles get together.

TIMES-DEMOCRAT CROP REPORT.

New Orleans, La., July 10.—The Times Democrat crop report:

First—Outside of Texas and Oklahoma great improvement is almost uniformly reported. Texas correspondents report crop spotted, while Oklahoma is facing a crisis because of heat and drought, when these reports were made up.

Second—Cultivation has been thorough and the supply of labor has been sufficient.

Third—There is some complaint of boll weevil from certain districts, but farmers are making a resolute fight.

Fourth—Taking the belt as a whole the prospect is one of the best known at this date.

WEATHER FORECASTS.

Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma—Unsettled, scattered showers.

East Texas—Unsettled, showers in northeast.

West Texas—Unsettled, showers in north portion.

Eastern Cotton Belt—Local Thunder showers, list. Spots 10 lower, sales 8,000 bales.

We opened ten lower and there was a large selling, the market taking it well.

Were it not for the idea that large long lines in New York may start to liquidate present prices would attract more liberal support as the general interest is largely short and the continued rains in central States cause apprehension and we have to pass the most critical crop period in respect to production.

Houston receipts today 38 bales, of which 30 are new. The market steadied around $2.84 for October but is watching the action of New York closely.

LONG DOCKET IN MUNICIPAL COURT

A long drawn out docket in Municipal Court occupied that institution of justice from the opening until the noon hour yesterday. The principal case, that against Charlie Black and Will Hemphill for affray with deadly weapons, commanded the chief interest and throughout the trial of the two defendants the court room was crowded with excited listeners who were much wrought up over the near-tragedy and its conclusion. Black, it will be remembered, was severely stabbed in the back and his opponent beaten badly about the head with a heavy walking-stick. After hearing the evidence Judge Eure pronounced both guilty and fined Charlie Black $50 and the costs. Through his attorney, O. L. Sapp, the defendant gave notice of appeal to Superior court and his bond was fixed at $100, in default of which he is at present in jail. Judgment was suspended in the case against Hemphill until this morning to allow G. M. Patton, attorney for the negro, opportunity of securing and placing other witnesses on the stand for the defense.

The evidence brought out few new disclosures other than those that have already appeared in these columns. The three witnesses placed upon the stand in prosecuting the two negroes testified that Black had started the fight by almost knocking Hemphill to the ground with a blow on the head with the cane. It was chiefly this fact that convicted Charlie, for the prosecution could not show that he had been guilty of criminal intimacy with Hemphill's wife. Will left his family in last January and as his wife was Charlie's double first cousin, he took her and her children into his home and cared for them. Hemphill returned to the city recently and found Charlie with his family. Thursday evening he had been drinking considerably and while not intoxicated, was in a decidedly ugly frame of temper. He went to Charlie's house where he, too, had been staying since his return and finding his child in the negro's arms, he roughly ordered him from the house. Black, who is weak and in feeble health from a recent operation at the hospital, obeyed and peacefully left his home.

Hemphill was evidently on the lookout for trouble, however, for he followed Charlie down Gilmer street and threw a large stone at him. Whereupon, Black retaliated with a sharp blow with his cane and the fight started with the result that both were badly hurt, as above stated. Hemphill will receive a sentence probably greater than Charlie's in court this morning.

The case against George Red and Warner Richmond, two negro boys, and Geneva and Decatur Jones, colored girls, for forcible trespass resulted in the conviction of all parties. They entered an empty house on Fields avenue Sunday morning about 1 o'clock and all four were found by invading policemen. The men were given sentences of 30 days each on the streets and the girls got the same terms of labor in the county workhouse. In searching them Policeman McCuson found a revolver on Decatur and she was given an additional 60 days in the harbor of detention for the offense of carrying concealed weapons. On his plea, the court later changed the sentence of Warner Richmond to $10 and the costs but as yet the negro has not paid his way to liberty.

Thomas Townsend, a young white man, was tried for the larceny of a shirt, a shirt, a razor, and a gold pin, but the State's evidence was not strong enough to convict and a not pro was taken in the case.

Tom Brown, Pink Huffines, and the wives of Joe Little and James Fuller, all negroes, were indicted on the charge of maintaining nuisances on their premises.

The former pair were found not guilty and the others dismissed with a warning to thoroughly clean and disinfect their premises in three days time.

WANTS TO OUST THE CONVICT CAMP

Owner of Property on Mendenhall Street Wants Commissioner Foushee to Move Street Force—Keogh Residents to Have City Water Soon.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Board of Commissioners official notice was served on Commissioner Foushee to vacate the property on Mendenhall street, now used as a guard house for the city street force. The property belongs to W. J. Hicks, of Goldsboro, the renting of it having been in the hands of local parties for a number of years. This is the second notice served on the commissioner and the notice yesterday stipulated that after July 6, the date of the first notice, the rent would be $10 per month.

Commissioner Foushee rented the property at $6 per month for one year, with privilege of two years if he wanted it. It seems that the property owner does not like the idea of convicts camping on his property and is making an effort to oust them. However, Commissioner Foushee has a contract with the agent for a year and will insist that it be lived up to.

The commissioners heard a delegation of citizens living on Keogh street regarding the water supply. The property owners use well water and this has been condemned as being full of typhoid and germs of other kinds of 3,000 to 8,000 to the cubic inch of water.

They asked that the city run water down the street so they could connect up and thus relieve them of the necessity of using water which the physicians had declared unsafe. They recited the fact that each year there is more or less typhoid fever on the street, due to the use of the well water. Commissioner Foushee stated that he had ordered a supply of pipe and as soon as this arrived he would have a four-inch main laid down the street, stating that the work would be done inside of two weeks.

The board passed an ordinance regarding the market house and a resolution calling on the citizens to be more careful with the water supply as the pumps were working over time in order to supply the demand. Both ordinance and resolution are printed elsewhere in today's paper.

See Ireland's ad in today's paper for Shoe reductions.

SHRINERS HAVING GREAT MEETING IN ROCHESTER

Said to be 75,000 Wearers of Red Fez in Attendance — Many Ladies Accompanied Them—Are Gathered From All Sections of County—Something About The Program.

Special to Telegram.

Rochester, N. Y., July 10.—When Rochester awoke this morning it found itself the host of the liveliest and biggest bunch of good fellows that has ever assembled in any city of the East. The occasion was the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine which meets in this city all this week. Shriners have been arriving by thousands since Saturday. Every hotel is filled; dwellings have been pressed into service; the railroad yards are filled with special trains of Pullman coaches; the city parks are made into camping grounds for the visitors and every town within a radius of thirty miles is filled to overflowing with the Shriners.

Never in the East has there been a convention that will equal this. Only the Mardi Gras, or the Los Angeles Flower Carnival can compare with the scenes of lavish display here this week.

In the first place, the Chamber of Commerce of Rochester has donated $10,000 for illuminations. The members of Damascus Shrine have duplicated this amount. The electrical display for brilliance and uniqueness has never been equaled in this country. For four months electrical experts have been busy with the designs.

Rochester is the birthplace of the Shrine and George A. Leder, the Father of the Order, is on hand to welcome all Shriners. Damascus Temple has arranged for a week of entertainment that will not leave a moment of leisure. The entire fleet of the Rochester Yacht Club is at the disposal of the Shriners and their wives; hundreds of automobiles are free to the visitors and every saddle horse in Rochester and vicinity has been engaged for the big parade.

Tomorrow evening the great pageant will move. It will be most spectacular in the history of Shrinedom and will extend over a line of more than ten miles. Temples from practically every city in the United States will participate with distinctive floats and handsomely uniformed patrols. Over 100 bands are already in the city for this parade. The floats represent an outlay of thousands of dollars and critics say they surpass those of the Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

The Shriners from Los Angeles, California, will appear in the parade on 100 coal black horses; one of the Texas Temples will be mounted on calico colored bronchos and the Memphis, Tenn., Temple will have a herd of camels to carry them over the line of march. Besides these other Western Temples will ride astride burros; a South Dakota Temple will have a black bear for each member, and other localities will display live stock characteristic of their country. The entire display will be enough to stock a half dozen big circuses. The animals are to be presented to the city after the parade.

The line of march for the parade is a fairy land of color. The fronts of the business houses on the main streets of the city are entirely covered with flags bunting and electrical devices.

After the parade tomorrow evening the patrols will be escorted to Bartholemew Hall, where a unique vaudeville program will be given. Performers from all parts of the world have been engaged and only male members of the order will be allowed within the doors.

The big feature of the entire convention will be the water carnival at Geneva Valley Park. Rochester's water carnivals have already attracted the attention of the entire country, but this week's exhibition will far exceed anything that has gone before. The upper stretches of the river have been festooned with thousand of electric lights both over and under the water and myriad water craft will appear in the wonderful Venetian display. This water carnival on Wednesday afternoon will be preceded by drills by visiting patrols from at least 100 Temples of the Shrine.

Some of the musical organizations with the visiting Temples are unique and noteworthy. The San Francisco Temple brought a Chinese band. Every musician is a slant-eyed Celestial and is garbed in his Oriental dress. The Lu Lu Temple of Philadelphia has its famous band of 62 pieces on the grounds and there are no less than ten Indian bands from Western Temples. Thursday afternoon a concert will be given by massed bands of over 1,000 musicians.

Thursday afternoon the feature will be the discharging of hundreds of bombs especially made in Japan for the convention. Each bomb contains a large American flag and these banners of silk will be released far above the city when the bombs explode.

The city of Rochester has hurried work on its new $280,000 Exposition Park and every building there has been turned over to the Shriners.

The longest trip to the convention was made by the Shriners from Tacoma, Washington, who came in a special train. The Shrine from Los Angeles also came in a special train attached to which was a car load of oranges and a carload of wine, besides a special section of horse cars for the transportation of the famous black horses on which the members of the Temple are to be mounted.

Baltimore Maryland, Portland, Oregon, and Los Angeles are striving for the next convention of the Shrine and each city has sent a great delegation with souvenirs by the hundreds to impress the delegates with their qualifications as entertainers.

Saladin Temple of Grand Rapids, Michigan, arrived here in the best style. The excursion was made in a special train that for elaborate and luxurious appointments has never been equalled in this country. Ten magnificent parlor cars make up the train, with two of the finest dining cars ever built and a supply car freighted with every epicurean delicacy. One drawing room car is fitted with rich velvet carpets, richly tapestried sofas, a grand piano and a pipe organ.

This car will be used by the women members of the party as a reception room and for a series of concerts and entertainments.

One of the most unique features of this train will be a car fitted up as a complete printing office, in which a daily journal edited by some of the most distinguished literary men of Michigan will be published. The "paper" will be printed upon white satin. "The White Satin Daily" will be distributed as a souvenir of a tour which has had no parallel in the history of railroading.

Hundreds of Canadian Shriners are here. The entire party came from Toronto by boats. These Canadian Nobles have pitched their tents in Maplewood Park. Here they are camping in true outdoor luxury. The Canadian bunch are dispensing open house and have a brand of hospitality all their own. The Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack fly on separate poles over their camp.

Among the distinguished guests in the city for the convention are President Taft, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Dix, nearly the entire Cabinet membership from Washington, no less than fifteen Governors of as many States and hundreds of men high in civic and military honors.

It is estimated that there are 75,000 wearers of the red fez in the city today.

This number of guests is almost doubled by the Shriners' wives who accompany their husbands.

Getting Out the Strength.

Among the applications for the cookshop in a Richmond household was a rather dashing yellow girl. The lady of the house was rather doubtful as to the ability of the mulatto, and therefore propounded more than the usual number of questions to her. Some were fairly satisfactory; but when the interrogatories touched the question of making tea, the negotiations were declared off.

"How long do you boil tea?"

"Well, ma'am," said the girl, "dat's matter of taste, ain't it? Some folks biles it longer, some shorter."

"But you do boil it?"

"Cert'n'y, ma'am, I biles it. Pus-sun'y, I always thought dat two hours was long 'nough to biles any tea. Yo' kin git de strem' outer any kind of tea in dat time."—Lippincott's.

Jewel Box Alarm.

Paris is now interested in my lady's jewel box with burglar alarm works in it. When the burglar picks up the box, or tampers with it, the thing gets busy with more noise than an alarm clock. Tip's advice to any lady who is warned by an alarm clock jewel box that a burglar is in the room with her is to refuse to be wakened by it and to interfere with his enterprise. Same advice to men. That device lets Mr. Burglar get too near before setting up its clanging clamor. The less fooling anybody does with burglars at close quarters the better. The kind of burglar alarm to recommend itself to people who think their lives are more valuable than precious stones would be one that would tell you the dark-lantern visitor was coming when he was five blocks away from your house.

THING HE CAN'T DO WITHOUT

His Regular Sleep, and This He Finds
He Must Have at His Regular Hours.

"One thing that I find I must have," said a man of mature years, "is sleep, and in order to keep fit and able to work I must not only have my full amount of sleep, but I must have it in my regular sleeping hours.

"When I was a youngster I could go without sleep, or I could take an hour or two at any time of the night and get up the next morning and go at it fresh as a daisy, but it isn't so now. If I cut off an hour or two's sleep now I am dull next day. Not until the next day after that, after a full night's sleep, do I come back all right. And even after my full number of hours of sleep, if these have been begun an hour or two later than usual, with the sleep continued later, I don't feel chipper; I must have my full sleep in my regular hours. I account for this on the supposition that I now have strength enough to keep me going through the day in good shape, just so long and no longer; if I work or sit up later I overtax my strength and so make myself correspondingly overtired; and to recover from this I must come back to my accustomed ways of living."

SAVED FOR FURTHER SERVICE

Good Old Teapot, Precious Relic, Could Not Be Allowed to Become Prey of Flames.

The hotel is in flames. Sadly the guests and servants gaze at the roaring pyre. Suddenly they see the proprietor dash madly in at the blazing doorway.

"He has gone to rescue someone!" they gasp.

Tensely they wait his reappearance. One minute. Two minutes. Three. Has he perished in that crackling furnace?

No! No! See, there he comes, singed and scorched, but safe.

What is that he carries so carefully in his arms? It is the hotel teapot, half-full of nice black tea.

Cheers rewarded the proprietor for his noble act of sentiment.

For twelve years the teapot has stood on the back of the kitchen range, boiling faithfully away. For twelve years it has poured out its life-blood in response to the calls of the transient world for drink, and the tea leaves in its dark old depths will do for many years to come.—Newark News.

Young Girl's Brave Act.

Remarkable bravery and presence of mind were displayed lately by Gennie Franklin, aged 16, of New York, when she saved two boys from being burned to death. Half a dozen youngsters decked in war costumes of Indians were playing around a "council fire" in a vacant lot when George McCullough, aged six, got close to the fire, and his clothes became ignited. His brother, Alexander, a year older, tried to beat out the flames and the fire spread to his clothing. The girl leaping out of the window of her home saw the accident, and the two brothers rolling on the ground. She ran out of doors, leaped over a fence and holding first one boy and then the other, heaped sand over them till the fire was extinguished. Both boys were unconscious, but not seriously injured.

Jamestown, Va., July 10.—After a meteoric career whose lavish expenditures rivaled the fabled prodigality of "Coal Oil Johnny," Edward Valentine Lee erstwhile paymaster's clerk on board the U. S. S. Georgia, will face the judge and jury tomorrow who are to determine the amount of time he must spend in a Federal prison to atone for his self-confessed theft of $46,000 from the paymaster's safe of the Georgia while she lay at Guantnamo Bay. His bride of a few weeks will be at his side.

Lee's career as a spendthrift has few parallels in criminology. Scarce had he looted the cruiser's safe on February 17, and disappeared from the fleet, before a mysterious individual by the name of A. W. Carmichael commenced a meteoric career as "prince of spenders" in the cities of the Southern Atlantic seaboard.

This seeming millionaire endeared himself to the heart of hotel waitresses, bell boys and chauffeurs by passing out $100 bills as though they were cigar coupons.

Nothing was too good for him, nothing too expensive, and at every turn of the hand he was ready with a huge bankroll to reward the favors he asked of others.

Early in his wanderings he turned up in Atlanta, where in a few short days he distributed sufficient money to make him known throughout the continent.

He presented a lady manicure with a $1,000 bank note for the pleasure of her company during a taxi cab ride and tipped the chauffeur with the comparatively moderate sum of $100. The waiter who served his table received $50 after each meal, as an incentive to prompt service. A bellboy with a jug of ice water invariably drew a $20 bank note for his trip upstairs.

The publicity that this lavishness brought him made a quick move necessary, and young Lee with the government detective, one jump in the rear, changed his quarters successively to Washington, New York, Philadelphia and several Southern cities, becoming acquainted en route with Miss Audrey Kelsey, who consented to share the young spendthrift's fortune.

In March he went to Europe where he was easily trailed by the readiness with which he dispensed his solips. On June 5th he sailed for Quebec, where he and his companion spent several days in sight seeing. A little later Miss Kelsey evinced a desire to visit her parents in Buffalo and Carmichael, with a recklessness that had characterized his course after the theft, accompanied her. He was arrested in Buffalo on June 21st, and a few days later was married to the young woman who had been his companion during his extensive wanderings.

As much as Lee has confessed his guilt, it is expected that the trial tomorrow will reach short duration and will comprise merely the legal formalities necessary to a sentence.

Up-to-Date Street Beggars.

"Even your street beggars are up to date here in New York," said an observing out-of-town man as he tossed a nickel into the hat of a professional beggar wearing a badge "Victim of the Recent Fire." "I've never known it to fail," he continued, "that after a fire, an explosion or any other big accident there was a noticeable change in the appeals made by your street beggars. Another thing, note his shrewdness, as he doesn't specify any particular fire, but simply the recent fire. The desire to keep abreast of the times seems to be deep seated in all New Yorkers, and just after some great accident the street beggars are sure to make the most of the situation and make their appeal to the public along the latest lines."

What He Wanted.

It was after the explosion, and Henderson sat on a rail fence gazing ruefully over the scene of ruin. One of his wheels was still rolling onward over the pike. Another hung from the limb of a tree. Other sections of the car were strewn about the highway, far and near.

"Ah me!" sighed Henderson. "To think that only last night I was weighing against an assembled car! By Jove! I'd give $100 to anybody who'd come along at this very minute and assemble mine."—Harper's Weekly.

Apropos.

"Jack's little windfall from his uncle came in nicely, didn't it?"

"What did he do with it?"

"The obvious thing. Just as he got the windfall, he found his machine needed a windbreak."

He—So young March and his father are carrying on the business?

She—Yes. The old man runs the business, while young March does the carrying on.—New York Globe.

Kempelen went all over Europe with his "Turk."

Some men's characters only last till the whitewash wears off.

All's well that ends well, but it's just as well to begin well.

SLUGGING MATCH YESTERDAY TOTALLED THIRTY FIVE HITS

As Greensboro Got
Larger Share of Them
The Patriots Won Easily From Anderson.

Greensboro won a slugging match with Anderson at Cone Park yesterday afternoon by a score of 16 to 1; the hits being 21 for the Patriots and 14 for the visitors. Morrissey did the slab work for Doyle's men and, as the score indicates, was not in good form. This did not matter, however, for the Patriots could get hits and runs at will and would have won the game had the Deacons been hit even more freely.

Corwin, Rickard, Doak, Fuller and Doyle did the heavy batting for the locals. These five men got a total of eighteen hits for twenty-five bases. Jamison was sent in to do the twirling for the Electricians, but was relieved after Doyle's men had gotten 15 hits in four and a fraction innings.

Aside from the heavy batting the game was featured by pretty catches by Clapp and W. Kelly, three double plays and some other nice fielding stunts. The same teams will play here today and tomorrow.

CHATHAM MURDERERS IN GUILFORD JAIL

history, she broke into paroxysms of grief.

The two men in a very sullen mood occupied cells in the jail last night awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Lane, who will conduct them to the Chatham county prison at Pittsboro where they will soon stand trial. They were known in the vicinity of their former homes as being men of notoriously bad characters. They are acknowledged blockaders, and not bearing particularly vicious appearances, they seem to be capable of the terrible crime that they seem at least to have been implicated in committing.

Says the Charlotte News:
There is a rumor circulating that the Hornets have secured two new pitchers, Averett and one Demarle, of the South Atlantic League. Averett is an old Carolina leaguer and a good one; the fellow used to be a star in the Southern, but is now hurling in the South Atlantic.

The Anderson-Winston series that are scheduled to be played in Anderson the 13, 14 and 15 of July are likely to be transferred to Fayetteville. Clancy and his drove of ball tossers are from that neck of the woods, that is, they were in the Eastern Carolina League last season, and it is very probable that the games would draw well.

Ireland starts his slate today. See his ad for low priced shoes.

CHARLOTTE TOOK THE FIRST GAME FROM GREENVILLE

Greenville, S. C. July 10.—Charlotte won today from the locals, 7 to 4, by bunching hits and poor team work by the Spinners. Errors of the Greenville team counted heavily as Cashion pitched the best game though Bauswine was good. None of the visitors' errors counted in the local runs. Shortstop Seigfried, of the Hornets, was hit over the heart by one of Cashion's speediest and was laid out for five or ten minutes.
